Straumann & Sirona in new collaboration

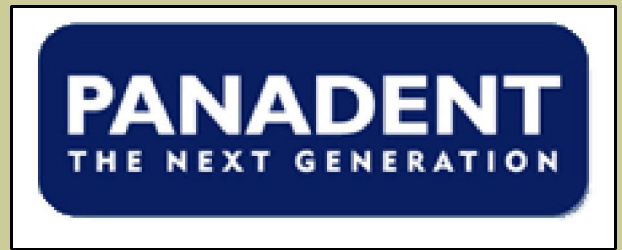

Straumann are launching CARES (Computer Aided Restoration Service) using Sirona's inLab CAD/CAM system.

This allows laboratories to create customised implant abutments for Straumann's Dental Implant System.

An invitational lecture is being held by Panadent on 15th-16th of this month, at Crawley and Wakefield, with special guest speakers Vanik Jinoian and Larry Brown.

Radford Heath will be sending two of its team, Colin Sykes and David Heath, to attend this event in order to:

- Increase its knowledge and understanding with the latest in implant technology.
- Offer patients a greater variety of options when they choose to have implant restorations.

The presentations will cover:

- Customized abutments in Zirconia and Titanium
- Infinident - Sirona's remote milling centre:
www.infinident.gb.com
- Features of the latest inLab software release (2.9)
- Vita's VM9 porcelain products (YZ inVizion restorations)

See you there!?
